St. Paul Mayor
Chris Coleman

Chris Coleman and his wife Connie live in St. Paul, where they raised their two children. Mayor Coleman attended the U of M as both an undergraduate and law student. He worked for eight years in Hennepin County as a public defender and prosecutor. He assumed office as Mayor of St. Paul on January 3, 2006, after spending several years on the St. Paul City Council. On December 13, 2016, Coleman announced his candidacy for Governor of Minnesota in the 2018 election.

Over the years Coleman led the way on many significant projects including the creation of the "Green Line" through downtown St. Paul and University Ave , revolutionary educational programs, several sustainability initiatives and most recently bringing a brand new Minor League baseball stadium to Lowertown.
